Wisconsin kids are depending on it

The bipartisan Keep Kids Fed Act would:

The Keep Kids Fed Act will provide much-needed relief to families, children, and providers through the rest of this summer and next school year by extending USDA's authority to provide child nutrition waiver flexibilities beyond the looming June 30th deadline. While it does not include all waivers in all settings, the bill focuses on key flexibilities:

- Extends the full slate of nationwide waivers for the remainder of the summer 2022
- Children in the reduced-price category will be moved to free category for next school year, and extends "no-cost" waivers like non-congregate and meal pattern flexibility for the school year
- Reimbursements are increased for breakfast (15 cents), lunch (40 cents) and CACFP (10 cents) for the next school year

Keep Kids Fed Act Talking Points

- I am calling to urge you to support the Keep Kids Fed Act - a bipartisan bill that ensures that children will have the meals they need this summer and next school year - that will be voted on this week.
- Without the immediate passage of this bill, food banks and other emergency food providers could be unable to feed children this summer - harming the 13 million children who are facing hunger in this country, including the estimated 204,600 Wisconsin children experiencing hunger.
- It is critical that [NAME OF Member of Congress] votes YES on the Keep Kids Fed Act.
